Many cities in the world are very beautiful, but in some places, the paths leading to the cities are even more beautiful. Today, let's talk about some such train routes ...

Many times there are more beautiful paths than the floors. Many paths are so adorable that one does not feel like reaching the destination. People like me find the journey of the train very attractive. In such a situation, if it is about the most beautiful train routes, then the matter is something else. Not only does this train route relieve the fatigue of traveling, but very good memories are left in your mind. Even though you are not able to go on any of these train routes in the era of Coronavirus, but still know about the beauty and specialty of these train routes.

Although there is no shortage of beautiful train routes in India too, today we talk about the whole world. Although there are many beautiful routes around the world, there are five that do not feel like going to the destination. These beautiful train routes pass between mountains and forests and it is nice to see them. If you get a chance, you can go on any of these routes.

Rocky Mountaineer's First Passage to the West - Canada

This is a very beautiful train route in Canada. Here are the rocky mountains between Vancouver and Banff in British Columbia and Canada's most beautiful railroad. During winter, this area is covered with snow. Not only beautiful weather but mountains, forests, ponds, and clouds, etc. are seen from the train window. This train passes through the springs. Travelers also get a night stay in the city of Kamloops.

It is a very comfortable train and passengers get first-class facilities. Enjoy the mountains of Canada here and bring lots of memories.

Glacier Express - Switzerland

If you have seen Shahrukh Khan and Kajol's Dil Wale Dulhania Le Jayenge ', then this train route is shown in it. This train runs between two of Switzerland's most charming resorts. This train is the best way to see the beauty of the Swizz Alps. The windows are very large and clean mirrors from where you will pass through snow-laden mountains, clear water ponds, and forests. The train passes through 91 tunnels and 291 bridges. Its high point is 6706 feet and after taking the ticket for this train you will feel that this is just heaven.

This train gives many class tickets and you can book according to your convenience.

TranzAlpine - New Zealand

This train route is in New Zealand and as we all know New Zealand is one of the most beautiful countries in the world. The natural view here is very attractive and this train will help you enjoy the beauty of New Zealand. This train will be a very good option for you if you want to travel to New Zealand comfortably. It starts from the town of Christchurch and passes through the banks of the Waimakariri River, through several fields and barns, through the jungles. Through the mountains, it reaches the middle of the jungles and then comes to its last place in Greymouth, which is itself a very beautiful city.

West Highland Line, Glasgow to Mallaig - Scotland

This train route was filmed in the second film of the Harry Potter series. It is one of the most scenic routes in Scotland. Everything from the rugged lush green forests of Scotland will be seen here. There is no lack of beauty here nor here you will feel like why come. Even if it looks like a little old root, its characteristics are not reduced. You will get to see very beautiful instruments.

Trans-Siberian Railway - Russia

It is not only beautiful but also a unique train route. It is the world's largest rail route at 5772 miles long and covers the entire Siberian region. This route from Moscow to Vladivostok is spread across Russia and a passenger can travel for a full 8 days.

This route coming on hot paths through the river, mountain, snow is very attractive and you may like it. The train has first-class, second class, and economy class seat options. Worst of all, it is not the right arrangement to eat food for such a long journey.

Knowing about these beautiful train routes, you may also feel like reaching them. If you liked this story then do share it and if there is any experience related to them, then tell us in the comment box. Stay connected with other life to read similar news.
